

Why participate in the community garden?

- Grow your own healthy organic vegetables
- Know where your food comes from
- Improve your sense of community
- Make new friends
- Accomplish satisfying labor
- Save money on grocery bills
- Have fresh produce all summer
- Donate extra food to the local food pantry
- Improve your sense of accomplishment
- Add to community beauty
- Connect to the environment
- Have fun!

For more information on the Kewaunee County Community Gardens, find us at:

kewaunee.uwex.edu/horticulture/communitygardens/

LUXEMBURG COMMUNITY GARDEN

Contact Information:
Charlie Piesler
920-866-9065

The Luxemburg Community Garden is made possible with cooperation from UW-Extension and monetary support from the Kewaunee County Garden Club.

The logo for UW Extension Cooperative Extension, featuring the text "UW Extension" in a stylized font above "Cooperative Extension".

Your county extension office

Luxemburg Community Garden

Located at 700 Heritage Road behind St. John's church

920-866-9065

A great place for people who dig plants!

What is the Luxemburg Community Garden?

- Parcel is located at 700 Heritage Road in Luxemburg
- Each plot is 20' X 20'
- A small renter's fee will supply you with fertile soil, restroom facilities, and water for the entire growing season!

- Expert advice provided by UW-Extension horticulturalists, Master Gardeners, and garden club members
- High quality soil

It's easy to get a plot!

Step 1: Contact Charlie Piesler at 920-866-9065 to sign up.

Step 2: Sign renter's agreement and pay the $25 per plot fee

Step 3: Attend garden orientation

Step 4: Plant, grow, enjoy!

It's perfect for people with shady yards, apartment residents without a garden area, youth groups, people who cannot grow certain vegetables in their home gardens, and many more!

Comments from Kewaunee County Community Garden Participants:

"The garden was great. People were friendly and helpful—a real community feeling."

"It allowed me to grow things I could not at my home plot. The soil is great and I loved seeing other people."

"It was fun walking around looking at other's gardens and getting ideas for next year."

LUXEMBURG COMMUNITY GARDEN

Contact information:

Charlie Piesler

920-866-9065